

BROOKLYN NEWS.

DID SHE DIE OF A BEATING?

Patrick McGee Held to Answer for His Wife's Death.

She Was Taken to the Hospital in a Badly Bruised Condition.

Justice Watson, in the Ewen Street Court, Williamsburg, to-day held Patrick McGee, of 31 Knickerbocker avenue, to answer a charge of homicide.

McGee is a Irishman, twenty-eight years old, and a truckman, who lives with his wife and three small children at the above address. From all accounts he has brutally ill-treated his wife on numerous occasions, and she had frequently complained of his conduct.

On Friday Mrs. McGee went to the house of her sister, Mrs. John Gallagher, 215 North Eighth street, and told her that she had been beaten and injured by her husband. She then became seriously ill, and an ambulance was called, in which she was taken to St. Catherine's Hospital. There it was found that her body was covered with bruises, and it was understood that several of her ribs were broken, although the hospital authorities did not talk about this case.

Everything possible was done for Mrs. McGee, but with no success, and she died early yesterday morning after suffering terrible agony. Coroner Creamer was notified, and he at once issued instructions for the arrest of McGee.

That night the fellow was not on the street in Police Station 10. There is reason to believe that the man meant to leave town, for he had $300, which he and his wife had hoarded up in his pocket. He declined to make any statement, however, beyond simply saying that he was not responsible for his wife's death.

Mr. Frank J. Ford has been ordered by Coroner Creamer to make a post-mortem examination to ascertain the cause of the woman's death.

BROOKLYN THEATRES.

Reopening of the Columbia—The New People's.

The opening of the Columbia Theatre in Brooklyn Saturday night with "The Last Paradise" brought out a fashionable audience. The play is one of the best of the two comic series, and was excellently interpreted by a company headed by Forrest Robinson, as Warner, Frank Dayton, as Standish, Francis Lloyd, as Hallett, Bert, as Margaret, and Charles Stokes, as Kismet. Kate Dennison, Wilson, as Colby, Virginia Marlowe, and other members of the cast assisted them. The play was a success, and the audience was much pleased with the performance. The house was a welcome addition to the theatres of the Eastern District, and the company made the opening address, in which he extended his congratulations and best wishes to the management of the new People's Theatre, and to the audience. The house was a success, and the audience was much pleased with the performance.

The Power of the Press opened the sixteenth season of the Columbia Theatre last night, and was well received by a large and enthusiastic audience. The play has cast two comic series, and the plot is told in five acts and eleven scenes. It was well staged and presented by a company of actors who showed their appreciation of the new decorations of the theatre by a round of applause when the new curtain was lowered after the first act.

RAISED A COLLECTION FOR HIM.

James Tracey Arrested for Swindling a Temperance Meeting.

James Tracey, who says he is a salesman, thirty-eight years old, and that he lives at 75 North 11th street, Philadelphia, was arrested by the police for six months by Justice Walsh in the Butler Street Police Court, Brooklyn, this morning.

Tracey was arrested last night and locked up in the Fifth Avenue station. He entered a hall at the corner of Fifth Avenue and Eighth street during a meeting of the Rescue Temperance Association.

He told the leader of the meeting that he had left a family sick and destitute at home, and that he had no money to buy food and medicine. He told his story in a straightforward manner. The hall was pushed around, and the proceeds—$110—was given to him.

Two of the ushers suspected that the fellow was a swindler, and followed him out on a street, where they found him with another man and a child. Both men then started for the nearest saloon, and Tracey was arrested when he came out, but his confederate escaped.

FOUR POLICEMEN TO ARREST HER

Mamie Johnson, a Mulatto, Tried to Stick Pins Into Men She Passed.

A plump young mulatto, who gave the name of Mamie Johnson, was fined $10 by Justice Walsh in the Adams Street Court, Brooklyn, to-day, for getting drunk and creating a disturbance on Myrtle avenue, shortly after midnight.

He sentenced four policemen to take her to the station-house, and said one of the policemen in court to-day, "and she was going to stick pins into every man she passed."

Tried to Drown Himself.

James Kelly, thirty-one years old, of 203 Hudson avenue, Brooklyn, attempted suicide by throwing himself from the Washington avenue bridge into the Hudson creek at 2 o'clock this morning.

He was rescued by Policemen McKenna and Rogers, of the Police Boat House, and removed to the Hospital. The physicians say that he is insane.

Died on the Sidewalk.

Martin O'Brien, twenty-seven years old, of 78 Truxton street, Brooklyn, was found dead this morning on the sidewalk, under the canopy street station of the Brooklyn Elevated Railroad. The police stated that he had been striking heavily and fell on the platform of the station. The body was removed to the morgue, and the coroner's jury was called.

Here's Your Yellow Trunk.

The Brooklyn police are looking for the owner of a small trunk, painted yellow and black, which was found on the Prospect Park Plaza yesterday. A newspaper issued to William Weinberg, of Harbinger, Astor, and quantity of papers were all that the trunk contained.

Struck by an L. T. Train.

Otto Schuck, forty-six years old, of 146 Harrison street, Brooklyn, was struck by a train on the Union Elevated Railroad at Broadway and Duane plaza early this morning, and was badly injured by the blow.

NOLAN'S BODY COMING HOME.

Brooklyn Charities Commissioner Killed in Northeast, Pa.

Probably Walked Off the Train in a Somnambulant Fit.

The news of the death of Charities Commissioner Francis Nolan, of Brooklyn, by falling from a train near Northeast, Pa., early yesterday morning was a great shock to the people of Williamsburg, where he had lived for almost a lifetime. Assessor Thomas J. Patterson, who was Mr. Nolan's travelling companion on the trip to Chicago, has telegraphed that he will return with the body on a train which arrives at the Grand Central Depot at 2:10 this afternoon.

Francis Nolan was long prominent in the affairs of Brooklyn. He was a staunch Democrat, and was for twenty-four years the recognized leader of the party in the city. He was born in Williamsburg, where he lived for almost a lifetime. Assessor Thomas J. Patterson, who was Mr. Nolan's travelling companion on the trip to Chicago, has telegraphed that he will return with the body on a train which arrives at the Grand Central Depot at 2:10 this afternoon.

Francis Nolan was long prominent in the affairs of Brooklyn. He was a staunch Democrat, and was for twenty-four years the recognized leader of the party in the city. He was born in Williamsburg, where he lived for almost a lifetime. Assessor Thomas J. Patterson, who was Mr. Nolan's travelling companion on the trip to Chicago, has telegraphed that he will return with the body on a train which arrives at the Grand Central Depot at 2:10 this afternoon.

BELLMORE'S SENSATION.

Mrs. Van Cott's Hearing Will Draw a Big Crowd.

BELLMORE, N. J., Sept. 4.—This locality is all worked up over the arrest of Mrs. Alice Touris and Mrs. Eugenia Van Cott. The arrest was caused by Mrs. Touris's husband, David, to whom she was married, to leave town, for he had $300, which he and his wife had hoarded up in his pocket. He declined to make any statement, however, beyond simply saying that he was not responsible for his wife's death.

There will be a special meeting of the stockholders of the Florida Central and Peninsular road in Jacksonville, Sept. 10, at 10 o'clock. The meeting will be held at the Hotel Ponce de Leon, and will be attended by a large number of the stockholders of the road.

Trouble is again brewing among the Chicago and Ohio River lines over passing rates. The Chicago and Ohio River lines are again at odds over the question of passing rates, and it is expected that a new war is likely to break out at any time.

GARDNER MARTIN HELD.

Accused of Assaulting a Little Girl in Prospect Park.

Frank Martin, fifty years old, at one time a patient in the Flatbush Insane Asylum, Brooklyn, and now a gardener at the institution, was today held to $200 bail by Justice Sweeney of Flatbush, charged with criminal assault on eleven-year-old Katie Moreh, daughter of Mrs. Moreh, of Flatbush avenue and City Line.

The evidence this morning tended to show that Martin had been on the street and by giving her candy and pennies persuaded her to go with him. There it is said, he assaulted the child, and was discovered by a crowd of indignant citizens. He was caught by several men, and taken to the police station at the Willink entrance to the station.

The prisoner pleaded not guilty, and was remanded in default of bail for examination on Wednesday.

PREFERS THE PENITENTIARY.

Kerrigan Wanted to Go Where He Could Get Nourishment.

William Kerrigan, of 94 Pacific street, Brooklyn, was arraigned before Justice Walsh, in the Adams Street Court, to-day charged with being drunk.

He refused a report of the officers of the Brooklyn Association to Ray Ridge, where the association is held, and asked to be taken to the penitentiary. He said: "I don't want to go to the penitentiary, but I want to go to the penitentiary."

He was remanded in default of bail for examination on Wednesday.

LOST TWO WATCHES IN A HUG.

Mrs. Annie McIntyre Accused of Robbing James Higgins.

Mrs. Annie McIntyre, who said she had no home, was held in the Ewen Street Court, Williamsburg, to-day on a charge of highway robbery.

James Higgins, of 33 Third street, Brooklyn, was arrested by the police, and charged with being drunk and creating a disturbance on Myrtle avenue, shortly after midnight.

He was remanded in default of bail for examination on Wednesday.

LOOK AT THE SIZE OF THE ORDINARY

LOOK AT THE SIZE OF THE ORDINARY. The ordinary is the smallest in size, the mildest in action, but the most thorough and far-reaching in results. They follow nature's methods, and they give help that leads to permanent relief.

LOOK AT THE SIZE OF THE ORDINARY. The ordinary is the smallest in size, the mildest in action, but the most thorough and far-reaching in results. They follow nature's methods, and they give help that leads to permanent relief.

LOOK AT THE SIZE OF THE ORDINARY. The ordinary is the smallest in size, the mildest in action, but the most thorough and far-reaching in results. They follow nature's methods, and they give help that leads to permanent relief.

LOOK AT THE SIZE OF THE ORDINARY. The ordinary is the smallest in size, the mildest in action, but the most thorough and far-reaching in results. They follow nature's methods, and they give help that leads to permanent relief.

LOOK AT THE SIZE OF THE ORDINARY. The ordinary is the smallest in size, the mildest in action, but the most thorough and far-reaching in results. They follow nature's methods, and they give help that leads to permanent relief.

LOOK AT THE SIZE OF THE ORDINARY. The ordinary is the smallest in size, the mildest in action, but the most thorough and far-reaching in results. They follow nature's methods, and they give help that leads to permanent relief.

LOOK AT THE SIZE OF THE ORDINARY. The ordinary is the smallest in size, the mildest in action, but the most thorough and far-reaching in results. They follow nature's methods, and they give help that leads to permanent relief.

MRS. DRESSLER'S FRIEND.

Maggie Washington Tried to Raise Money to Bury the Poor Woman.

Maggie Washington, a colored mulatto girl of 18 Christy street, called at "The Evening World" office to-day in reference to the death of Mrs. Dressler. This poor woman, as told in Saturday's "Evening World," died a few days ago at St. Joseph's Home from fatty degeneration of the heart. She had undergone an operation at Bellevue Hospital, where both legs were amputated. She was supplied with artificial members by readers of "The Evening World," who responded nobly to the appeal made in her behalf.

Through her long illness Mrs. Dressler was faithfully nursed by Maggie, whose mother formerly did washing for the afflicted woman. After leaving the St. Joseph's Home, Maggie, being with the Washington family until her removal to St. Joseph's Home.

After Mrs. Dressler's death, Maggie went to raise enough money to save her mother-in-law from being buried in the poor house. She was unable to get more than $12.50 of the necessary $100. She then turned to the readers of "The Evening World," who responded nobly to the appeal made in her behalf.

On Saturday, Mrs. Dressler's death was reported in the "Evening World," and the Washington family until her removal to St. Joseph's Home.

After Mrs. Dressler's death, Maggie went to raise enough money to save her mother-in-law from being buried in the poor house. She was unable to get more than $12.50 of the necessary $100. She then turned to the readers of "The Evening World," who responded nobly to the appeal made in her behalf.

On Saturday, Mrs. Dressler's death was reported in the "Evening World," and the Washington family until her removal to St. Joseph's Home.

After Mrs. Dressler's death, Maggie went to raise enough money to save her mother-in-law from being buried in the poor house. She was unable to get more than $12.50 of the necessary $100. She then turned to the readers of "The Evening World," who responded nobly to the appeal made in her behalf.

On Saturday, Mrs. Dressler's death was reported in the "Evening World," and the Washington family until her removal to St. Joseph's Home.

After Mrs. Dressler's death, Maggie went to raise enough money to save her mother-in-law from being buried in the poor house. She was unable to get more than $12.50 of the necessary $100. She then turned to the readers of "The Evening World," who responded nobly to the appeal made in her behalf.

On Saturday, Mrs. Dressler's death was reported in the "Evening World," and the Washington family until her removal to St. Joseph's Home.

After Mrs. Dressler's death, Maggie went to raise enough money to save her mother-in-law from being buried in the poor house. She was unable to get more than $12.50 of the necessary $100. She then turned to the readers of "The Evening World," who responded nobly to the appeal made in her behalf.

On Saturday, Mrs. Dressler's death was reported in the "Evening World," and the Washington family until her removal to St. Joseph's Home.

After Mrs. Dressler's death, Maggie went to raise enough money to save her mother-in-law from being buried in the poor house. She was unable to get more than $12.50 of the necessary $100. She then turned to the readers of "The Evening World," who responded nobly to the appeal made in her behalf.

On Saturday, Mrs. Dressler's death was reported in the "Evening World," and the Washington family until her removal to St. Joseph's Home.

After Mrs. Dressler's death, Maggie went to raise enough money to save her mother-in-law from being buried in the poor house. She was unable to get more than $12.50 of the necessary $100. She then turned to the readers of "The Evening World," who responded nobly to the appeal made in her behalf.

On Saturday, Mrs. Dressler's death was reported in the "Evening World," and the Washington family until her removal to St. Joseph's Home.

After Mrs. Dressler's death, Maggie went to raise enough money to save her mother-in-law from being buried in the poor house. She was unable to get more than $12.50 of the necessary $100. She then turned to the readers of "The Evening World," who responded nobly to the appeal made in her behalf.

On Saturday, Mrs. Dressler's death was reported in the "Evening World," and the Washington family until her removal to St. Joseph's Home.

After Mrs. Dressler's death, Maggie went to raise enough money to save her mother-in-law from being buried in the poor house. She was unable to get more than $12.50 of the necessary $100. She then turned to the readers of "The Evening World," who responded nobly to the appeal made in her behalf.

On Saturday, Mrs. Dressler's death was reported in the "Evening World," and the Washington family until her removal to St. Joseph's Home.

After Mrs. Dressler's death, Maggie went to raise enough money to save her mother-in-law from being buried in the poor house. She was unable to get more than $12.50 of the necessary $100. She then turned to the readers of "The Evening World," who responded nobly to the appeal made in her behalf.

On Saturday, Mrs. Dressler's death was reported in the "Evening World," and the Washington family until her removal to St. Joseph's Home.

After Mrs. Dressler's death, Maggie went to raise enough money to save her mother-in-law from being buried in the poor house. She was unable to get more than $12.50 of the necessary $100. She then turned to the readers of "The Evening World," who responded nobly to the appeal made in her behalf.

On Saturday, Mrs. Dressler's death was reported in the "Evening World," and the Washington family until her removal to St. Joseph's Home.

After Mrs. Dressler's death, Maggie went to raise enough money to save her mother-in-law from being buried in the poor house. She was unable to get more than $12.50 of the necessary $100. She then turned to the readers of "The Evening World," who responded nobly to the appeal made in her behalf.

On Saturday, Mrs. Dressler's death was reported in the "Evening World," and the Washington family until her removal to St. Joseph's Home.

After Mrs. Dressler's death, Maggie went to raise enough money to save her mother-in-law from being buried in the poor house. She was unable to get more than $12.50 of the necessary $100. She then turned to the readers of "The Evening World," who responded nobly to the appeal made in her behalf.

On Saturday, Mrs. Dressler's death was reported in the "Evening World," and the Washington family until her removal to St. Joseph's Home.

After Mrs. Dressler's death, Maggie went to raise enough money to save her mother-in-law from being buried in the poor house. She was unable to get more than $12.50 of the necessary $100. She then turned to the readers of "The Evening World," who responded nobly to the appeal made in her behalf.

On Saturday, Mrs. Dressler's death was reported in the "Evening World," and the Washington family until her removal to St. Joseph's Home.

After Mrs. Dressler's death, Maggie went to raise enough money to save her mother-in-law from being buried in the poor house. She was unable to get more than $12.50 of the necessary $100. She then turned to the readers of "The Evening World," who responded nobly to the appeal made in her behalf.

On Saturday, Mrs. Dressler's death was reported in the "Evening World," and the Washington family until her removal to St. Joseph's Home.

After Mrs. Dressler's death, Maggie went to raise enough money to save her mother-in-law from being buried in the poor house. She was unable to get more than $12.50 of the necessary $100. She then turned to the readers of "The Evening World," who responded nobly to the appeal made in her behalf.

NEW JERSEY.

WHO MURDERED THIS MAN?

Body with Four Bullet Wounds Found Near Woodbury, N. J.

Eight Colored People Under Arrest on Suspicion.

WOODBURY, N. J., Sept. 4.—The authorities here are trying to solve what is undoubtedly a case of murder. The victim is an unknown man, apparently a German, whose body, containing four bullet wounds, was found yesterday in Ladd's woods by two colored men. There are looked up in the County Jail at this place eight colored persons, seven men and one woman, who were arrested on suspicion of being connected with the murder. They were all more or less drunk when they were brought to the jail.

Prosecutor Perry refused to allow them to converse with each other, and ordered that they be kept in separate cells. The investigation, which is now being made, is expected to result in the conviction of one or more of the accused.

The prisoners told Sheriff Parker that they had been looking for a body in the woods for some time, and that they had found it yesterday. They were all more or less drunk when they were brought to the jail.

The place where the body was found is a wooded spot about a mile north of the town. The body was found lying on its back, with four bullet wounds in the chest. The bullets were of the type used in the German army.

The place where the body was found is a wooded spot about a mile north of the town. The body was found lying on its back, with four bullet wounds in the chest. The bullets were of the type used in the German army.

The place where the body was found is a wooded spot about a mile north of the town. The body was found lying on its back, with four bullet wounds in the chest. The bullets were of the type used in the German army.

The place where the body was found is a wooded spot about a mile north of the town. The body was found lying on its back, with four bullet wounds in the chest. The bullets were of the type used in the German army.

The place where the body was found is a wooded spot about a mile north of the town. The body was found lying on its back, with four bullet wounds in the chest. The bullets were of the type used in the German army.

The place where the body was found is a wooded spot about a mile north of the town. The body was found lying on its back, with four bullet wounds in the chest. The bullets were of the type used in the German army.

The place where the body was found is a wooded spot about a mile north of the town. The body was found lying on its back, with four bullet wounds in the chest. The bullets were of the type used in the German army.

The place where the body was found is a wooded spot about a mile north of the town. The body was found lying on its back, with four bullet wounds in the chest. The bullets were of the type used in the German army.

The place where the body was found is a wooded spot about a mile north of the town. The body was found lying on its back, with four bullet wounds in the chest. The bullets were of the type used in the German army.

The place where the body was found is a wooded spot about a mile north of the town. The body was found lying on its back, with four bullet wounds in the chest. The bullets were of the type used in the German army.

The place where the body was found is a wooded spot about a mile north of the town. The body was found lying on its back, with four bullet wounds in the chest. The bullets were of the type used in the German army.

The place where the body was found is a wooded spot about a mile north of the town. The body was found lying on its back, with four bullet wounds in the chest. The bullets were of the type used in the German army.

The place where the body was found is a wooded spot about a mile north of the town. The body was found lying on its back, with four bullet wounds in the chest. The bullets were of the type used in the German army.

The place where the body was found is a wooded spot about a mile north of the town. The body was found lying on its back, with four bullet wounds in the chest. The bullets were of the type used in the German army.

The place where the body was found is a wooded spot about a mile north of the town. The body was found lying on its back, with four bullet wounds in the chest. The bullets were of the type used in the German army.

The place where the body was found is a wooded spot about a mile north of the town. The body was found lying on its back, with four bullet wounds in the chest. The bullets were of the type used in the German army.

The place where the body was found is a wooded spot about a mile north of the town. The body was found lying on its back, with four bullet wounds in the chest. The bullets were of the type used in the German army.

The place where the body was found is a wooded spot about a mile north of the town. The body was found lying on its back, with four bullet wounds in the chest. The bullets were of the type used in the German army.

The place where the body was found is a wooded spot about a mile north of the town. The body was found lying on its back, with four bullet wounds in the chest. The bullets were of the type used in the German army.

The place where the body was found is a wooded spot about a mile north of the town. The body was found lying on its back, with four bullet wounds in the chest. The bullets were of the type used in the German army.

The place where the body was found is a wooded spot about a mile north of the town. The body was found lying on its back, with four bullet wounds in the chest. The bullets were of the type used in the German army.

The place where the body was found is a wooded spot about a mile north of the town. The body was found lying on its back, with four bullet wounds in the chest. The bullets were of the type used in the German army.

The place where the body was found is a wooded spot about a mile north of the town. The body was found lying on its back, with four bullet wounds in the chest. The bullets were of the type used in the German army.

The place where the body was found is a wooded spot about a mile north of the town. The body was found lying on its back, with four bullet wounds in the chest. The bullets were of the type used in the German army.

The place where the body was found is a wooded spot about a mile north of the town. The body was found lying on its back, with four bullet wounds in the chest. The bullets were of the type used in the German army.

The place where the body was found is a wooded spot about a mile north of the town. The body was found lying on its back, with four bullet wounds in the chest. The bullets were of the type used in the German army.

It will all come out in the wash."

By the Pearl Line.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.

Boards Wanted.